An English language school for juniors

Within our school we have a clear teaching philosophy that runs through everything we do. It is based on a simple premise—that from hello to the time it comes to say farewell, we want every student to have fun learning with us.

In practice we maximise every opportunity available to help students improve their English. In doing so we're focused on helping students to relax into their learning and to converse as naturally as possible.

So, from the very first greeting with their homestay family, students will be asked to interact in English as part of their stay. In the classroom our lessons are conversational and designed to help students practice English; whilst outside of school students take part in various activities that are not only fun but will introduce new words and phrases for them to learn.

There are lots of activities to choose from – they are the bee's knees, as we say here in England.

Have fun learning with us

Teaching English is what we do. At the heart of our fun approach to learning we're always looking for different ways to teach new words and phrases.

Dotted throughout this booklet are some common English idioms and sayings you may or may not be familiar with. Here's how they're often used and what they mean:

Bee's knees

a traditional phrase used to describe when something is the very best of the best!

A piece of cake!

an informal saying used to describe something that is simple and easy to do.

A thoroughly good egg

an old-fashioned saying used to describe someone with good qualities, meaning they're agreeable and trustworthy.
